A CRUSADE TO BE LEVELED

At Fictitious and Improper Female Medical Practitioners.

IT IS SAID TO BE A PUBLIC MENACE

The Southside Medical Society dispensed with their regular business at their meeting, held at the residence of Dr. F. Koeller, last night, to discuss the advisability of prosecuting illegal and incompetent male and female practitioners. There has been talk of some action being taken in this direction for some time, and the only reason it has not been pushed is because of the cry of persecution, always raised by the bogus physicians whenever the matter was sug-

The question has already been before one of the county medical societies, and action taken looking toward instituting legal proeeedings. The discussion at the meeting lust night resulted in a motion being passed pledging the support of the Southside Medical Society in any steps that might be taken by the county society to silence the people who are imposing on the public and injuring the medical profession.

MUCH EVIL ACCOMPLISHED.

It is said that there are hundreds of women in the two cities who are doing an immense amount of evil. They are located all over Pittsburg and Allegheny, but just now they seem to be practicing largely in Allegheny and the East End Some of the most dangerous ones are said to live on the Southside, and that is why the Southside Medical Society was so ready to volunteer their support in having something done. The women are considered to be the most disastrous to the profession. They go about making false representations as to their professional asso-ciates, and impose on the public by referring to regular practitioners as indorsing them. In the discussion last night nearly every physician had some experience to relate wherein he had been the victim of an imposition, or where he had been required to exsave the lives of patients who had employed inexperienced practitioners. As an instance of how some are imposed upon one prominent physician said: "About two months ago a lady, the wife of a wealthy merchant, asked me if I knew Mrs. —. I said I did not. 'Well,' said the lady, 'she uses your name; she told me she had been over in consultation with and assisting you in an operation.' Now, the people who employ these people on the strength of such statements are fooled, and employ women who possess neither skill, conscience nor truth."

THE POLICE INVOKED. Sometime ago one of the physicians who had been victimized in some such manner, secured the services of Superintenden O'Mara, of the police department, to work up the case, and in a shor: time a Southside woman was traced to the East End, where she had been working in on the confidence of many of the best known women of that section of the city. All the evidence that could be obtained was gathered and has been eserved intact for use in case proceedings

Some of the women are so bold as to not only follow the vocation of a physician, but ply the trade of the apothecary and deal out medicin intended to produce illegal results. But the physicians are injured most by the women representing themlearned that a woman had been circulating the report that his success was due entirely to his having followed advice given by her in important cases. The public make the mistake of employing them on account of a false modesty with regard to engaging regular physicians.

It is very probable that at the next meet-ing of the Allegbeny County Medical Society definite action will be taken, as it is considered that is the proper source from which action should emanate. The Southside Society favors the appointment of a committee to take charge of the matter; to collect names and evidence and to institute and push proceedings.

HAS OPTIONS AROUND THE P. & W. A Movement in Allegheny Real Estate for Railroad Purposes.

Hon. C. W. Robison, the well-known legislator of Allegheny City, is securing options on considerable ground in the vicinity of the Pittsburg and Western depot. He has options on everything from Anderson street to Arbuckle alley or down to the Eagle Cotton Mill between Robinson and Isabella streets.

He was seen last night, and when asked if he was securing it for the Pittsburg and Western, refused to answer direct. He said he had options on $100,000 worth of property, and if the Pittsburg and Western wanted it they could probably get it. It is not at all likely, however, that they intend to build a new station on the ground if they purchase the property. Anderson street is to be widened at the corner near the Pittsburg and Western station and it is supposed that the probable purchasers of the property to Take Piace Thursday-Willis McCook, Esq., on the Bank. Long & Co.'s personal property at Char-tiers will be offered for sale Thursday morning. An advertisement has been inserted in another column of THE DISPATCH in regard to the sale, which will take place at 10 o'clock.

The stuff to be sold includes a large quantity of pig iron, muck bar, finished iron, iron ore, scrap, etc. The sale will take place on the company's property at the mill at Chartiers.

The sale will be made for the benefit of the Lawrence Bank, and does not include the mill, which is real estate. Under the law the sale of the mill cannot take place until after the first Monday in March. The sale of the iron, etc., on hand at the mill should yield about $60,000. At the meeting of creditors held a week ago a statement was read from the firm. They stated that the amount of personal property on hand would yield about $100,000. The bank officials claim this is a high estimate, and if they get $60,000 out of it they will be lucky. get $60,000 out of it they will be lucky. The firm is now taking a careful inventory of every pound of iron, etc., on hand for presentation at the meeting of creditors to be held this week. They are also making a list for the Sheriff's sale. On the personal property the bank has the first claim, as they are also may a send of the marting and the same head of the marting as.

In conversation with a DISPATCH reporter about the affairs of the bank, Willis McCook, Esq., said yesterday:

"I do not think the statement of Assignee McKelvy can be made for at least five weeks. There are over 6,000 accounts with the bank and every one of them is entered in one ledger. Only one man can work at a time on this account. Mr. McKelvy has a good expert at work on the ledger and will not make any statement until he is sure that it is correct. Some of the accounts range from a few cents to $50,000 and no one can form an idea of the amount of work involved in the matter. He cannot assume anything, but must know for a certainty what he is about. So far as he has gone there have been no discrepancies discovered. The work of preparing the statement is going along as fast as it can possibly be hur-

As yet the date of the meeting of Long & Co,'s creditors has not yet been fixed. The sale on Thursday will really not interest them, as the bank has the first claim.

ship to be Settled. The question of the consolidation of the two branches of the Reformed Presbyterian Church is again coming prominently before the church people, and discussion of both sides of the question is carried on with great vigor, The separation, 'as has been heretofore published, occurred in 1833, over the ques tion as to whether or not Presbyterians should vote at the elections of the various officials of the country.

One side maintained that no church members should vote, while the other maintained that he should, as voting was more than a mere right, and really was a duty entailed on all Americans by the very fact of their citizenship.

Each branch of the church appointed a committee of three to meet and discuss the matter. These committees have since been enlarged to ten members each. They will meet shortly after the holidays and prepare reports to be submitted to their respective Synods. The General Synod, which is the governing body of the new school, or voters, will meet in May, 1890, and the Synod, governing the body of the non-voters, will meet in June, 1890.

It is expected that the meetings of the enlarged committees will be held in Geneva College, Beaver Falls. Rev. John Graham, of Philadelphia, is Chairman of the General Synod Committee, and Rev. H. H. George, D. D., President of Geneva College, is Chairman of the Synod Committee.

A TWIN-CITY BRIDGE

Colonel James P. Andrews Makes a Valuable Suggestion.

THE CITIES TO BUILD MUTUALLY. Four-Track and Wide Footway Structure Suggested.

BOW $450,000 COULD BE SUBSCRIBED

While a representative of THE DISPATCH was conversing yesterday with Colonel James P. Andrews, the veteran engineer, the latter mentioned a most feasible plan for securing a free bridge between Pittsburg and Allegheny. He was slightly disinclined to allow of the use of his name in connection with the plan, but after being per suaded that the community always looked to public-spirited citizens for progressive ideas, he consented to the publication of his plan in his own words.

Colonel Andrews said: "The efforts of the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester line to obtain a right of way across the Sixth street bridge for a cable railway have been keenly interesting to both Alleghenians and Pittsburgers. It means rapid transit between two great cities, and, upon the principle that time is money, a great saving to many. Pittsburg has been compelled to hold off Allegheny at arm's length many years on account of the amount of time con-sumed in getting across the river. I don' know whether the two cities will ever grow together or not, but I am sure that if anything could operate as a barrier to such a consummation it is a set of toll bridges, the owners of which are too engressed in money-making to pay any attention to the needs of FANCY PRICES ASKED. "The Pleasant Valley Company purchased its own bridge to be sure and is in possession of every means necessary to se cure rapid transit so far as its line is con cerned But the Ninth street bridge is too far up stream to be of any material account in the flood of travel between the centers of the two cities.

"As to the Seventh street bridge I am in formed that a very fancy price is asked for it; a price far in advance of what it cost to rect, and no bridge is as good as new after a term of years hard wear. I have seen a newspaper statement that the Sixth street bridge cannot be bought for a million dollars, and also a statement that the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester Railway Company will have to buy the bridge to change it in order to operate a cable. As to such a figure, it is preposterous and absurd.

FOR A NEW BIG BRIDGE. "I could build a bridge for from $400,000 to $450,000, which would be twice as wide as any bridge now spanning any of the rivers. It would have four sets of tracks and big, wide footwalks, and would allow of rapid traction or electric cars run in any manner and at any reasonable rate of speed. As for the roadways and footways, they could be ample to accommodate any amoun of traffic. Four hundred and fifty thousand dollars is an outside estimate of what a magnificent and substantial bridge could be constructed for at the present time, for all materials to be used are now very reasonable ompared with several years ago."
"But how could the bridge be paid for it such a manner as to make it free, Colonel?"

"Why, simply enough. The city of Pitts-burg and the city of Allegheny could combine with either one or two rapid traosis companies and construct the bridge. Say that the cities each put in $125,000 and the transit companies furnished the remainder for the franchises involved.

WOULD BE A GOOD INVESTMENT. It would be a capital investment and could be operated very economically and controlled in every tense by the citizens. Enough money is invested in tollage every pay for such a structure as I propose as a plan."

"You seem to be a believer in rapid transit? "Indeed I am. A large proportion of the fast travel across the bridges between the two cities would ride, if riding was fast and reasonable. If patrons of the Ft. Wayne road could be whirled across the river and to the depot at a decent rate of speed they would become patrons of such a road, Although I have not examined the street bridge critically lately, I should imagine that rapid transit over it would not be feasible. Over a new and strongly constructed bridge anything could be done. The only way the two cities can secure free bridges is by a combination against the existing bridges." QUICK TRANSIT TO ALLEGHENY.

The Old Red Cars at the Postoffice Wil Soon be Superseded.

The Christmas present which the directors of the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Pleasaut Valley Passenger Railway Company have in store for citizens; is more rapid communication over their system.

The Pullman Company has 25 cars almos ready, and the first shipment of 10 cars was expected to have reached the city yesterday An official stated yesterday that he ex-pected to see the new cars in operation within a couple of weeks, and that everything is ready for a start.

A new feature in connection with the working of this road is that the motor men and conductors have contracted with the company for a work day of nine hours. The rate of wages will be on a basis of 20 cents per hour; any extra time called for in case of emergency to be paid for at the same rate. It is said that the company will call upon the men to work longer hours on Sunday, but this is a point not fully decided. The employes will be provided with a uniforn consisting of a suit, cap and overcoat, which will stand each man in just $33 60. The company proposes to recoup itself for the outlay by deducting 25 per cent of each man's wages until the clothing is paid for. Some of the men think that the company can very well afford to pay for the uniforms since it makes it obligatory on the men to George Ochman, the chief electrician and traveling representative of the Gamewell traveling representative of the Gamewell Company, arrived in the city yesterday, to commence operations and in about three weeks the new arrangements will have been completed. Mr. Ochman said the idea been completed. Mr. Ochman said the idea was to guard the outposts of the city, such as the Union depot, the bridges and other places of exit for people who want to get rid of Pittsburg as badly as the municipality wants to get rid of them. Mr. Ochman said that the system is at present experimental, being only in operation in one police district of New York, and being tried in various cities in the same manner. The knowledge that the system would call the police force together and concentrate them in case of a fire or rice or any disturbance in any part fire or riot, or any disturbance in any part of the city would, he thought be sufficient to recommend its adoption. "When in the case of a fire, or disturbance in any district, the officers can be called together at once, the advantage is so apparent that no description of mine would enhance its benefits.'

The committees appointed by the several organizations have pointed by the several organizations have been unable to agree as to how the object should be brought about, and they have been, consequently, discharged. Another effort will be made to promote some scheme for overcoming the jealous feelings which are said to exist in some of the unions, and a project for amalgamation will be put forward looking to a reconciliation, for the common good, of the differences of opinion which now exist as to which union should swallow the other. and were selling the product to the company. By reason of their position they tion: could get better prices for the stone than they could by selling to other consumers. It was also stated that the stuff was shipped to the point at various points along the line without paying freight. A detective was sent to Allegheny from Philadelphia, and, after securing employment in Chief Engineer Dobson's office, he secured enough information to warrant the discharge of all the officials.

The following day the reporter called upon Superintendent Kirtland and questioned him in regard to the matter. He admitted that there had been trouble between the officials at Philadelphia and Engineer Dobson. The latter, he said, had resigned, and was going South for the benefit of his health. He denied that any of the other There was an interesting hearing yesterday afternoon before Alderman Bupp, of the Eleventh ward, Allegheny. Norman health. He denied that any of the other officials of the West Penn were interested in the matter, and only one man would resign. Not wishing to injure Mr. Dobson or cast a shadow of suspicion on the other officials, nothing was published except the mere fact that the engineer had resigned and was going South for his health.

It is new stated that Superintendent Kirtland will resign on January 1. He was interviewed vesterday afternoon and said: King, the son and administrator of the late Lewis King, of Etna borough, sued Robert Humphreys and Joseph Ackerman, of Etna, for conspiracy, in trying to interfere with an Lewis King, who has been dead about 19 nonths, left a will, but it was set aside on the ground that he was not of sound mind at interviewed yesterday afternoon and said: "It is not true that anyone has asked me to the time he made it. It appears that Humphreys, who is a son-in-law to the late Mr. King, induced him to sell a house in Etna to Ackerman for $100. The house and lot ordered by court to be sold adjoined this property, and the testimony before the Alderman went to show that the defendants resign. It is not long now until the first of the year, and if there is anything wrong it will come out then. Mr. Pugh exouerated me fully from one charge made against me through an evening paper recently, and I think that should be sufficient. It is true went to possible bidders and depreciated the value of the property, the object, according that I am interested in the Blairsville Coke Works, but no others of the railroad offi-cials associated with me here have any con-nection with it. THE CHINA STORE, CHRISTMAS GIFTS. FRENCH, KENDRICK & CO. THE SILVER QUESTION UP.

The Chamber of Commerce Discusses the Western Metal but Takes no Stand-Local Matters Toucked Upon.

The regular meeting of the directors of a story to the effect that all the officials of the the Chamber of Commerce was held yester-West Penn road had been requested to re- day afternoon. President W. E. Schmertz presided. After the roll call and minutes had been interrested in stone quarries, etc., of the last meeting were read, Hon. Morrison Foster presented the following resolu-

Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce approves of the establishment of a boat or boats for harbor protection and protection against fires, and ask that the officers thereon be also charged with the duty of preventing the filling out of the river banks beyond the limits established by law.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Rivers and Harbors.

President Schmertz vacated the chair to speak on a paper received by him from Hon. W. P. St. John, President of the Mercantile National Bank, of New York. The paper was a lengthy one and was not read. Its subject was: "Shall silver re-place the United States legal tender?" Mr. Schmerts stated that the argument of the paper was to retire the legal tender notes and issue silver certificates. The question put was what stand the Chamber of Commerce would take in the matter. The speaker believed that consideration should be shown to the Western States where the silver came from and the tariff left on, as the same principle is applied to that section of the country as in Pennsylvania, where the tariff is a necessity on iron and steel.

Hon. J. F. Dravo stated that he saw no reason to prohibit the issue of silver, as it was an American product, and not indestructible like paper. He said it was the representative wealth of the West and the Government should use it and favor metal currency. Mr. Foster stated that the Chamber should declare whether it favored the increase of $4,000,000 per month in the issue of silver. The matter was referred to the Committee on Finance and Banking, after which the Chamber adjourned.
